

Interactive comment on “Localized Coherence of Freak Waves” by A. L. Latifah and E. van Groesen

Anonymous Referee #2

Received and published: 30 June 2016

In the revision, the authors took into account appropriately most my comments, with a single exception. In my previous review, I did not necessarily request to broaden the research to multi-directional waves. However, I stressed that it should be clearly stated that only unidirectional waves are considered, and the possible effects of directional spreading are briefly discussed. In their reply to my comment about directional spreading, the authors refer to Adcock et al. (2015), but this paper (or any other publication that deals with that point) remains not mentioned in the revised manuscript.

Interactive comment on Nonlin. Processes Geophys. Discuss., doi:10.5194/npg-2016-31, 2016.

Printer-friendly version

Discussion paper

